

THE NEWMAN INSTITUTE
UNIVERSITY COLLEGE

WELCOME TO THE NEWMAN INSTITUTE

The Newman Institute is a place for exploring the deeper questions of life and the interaction between theology, philosophy and culture. It is a place where students can acquire an excellent education presented from the perspective of the Catholic tradition.

The Catholic tradition of faith, thought and culture has been fundamental to the development of civilization in the West and many other parts of the world. The Newman Institute offers a variety of courses in theology, philosophy and cultural studies from a Catholic perspective, and from a historical as well as a contemporary point of view.

The Newman Institute is named after the great English thinker Blessed John Henry Newman (1801-1890), and is run by the Society of Jesus.

The Institute offers a bachelor's degree programme of 180 credits, as well as about 20 individual courses per term (of 7.5 ECTS credits each).

The Institute also publishes the cultural magazine Signum.

The Newman Institute is a committed member of the ERASMUS community, with a growing number of cooperations with institutions across Europe. The language of instruction at the Institute is both Swedish and English. Currently two courses per term are offered in English, with the plan to increase the English courses available to four courses per term within the next 1-2 years. For those foreign students who wish to take the Institute's courses that are only offered in Swedish, intensive Swedish language courses (EILC) are available through the University of Uppsala.

The ERASMUS coordinator is Christine Zyka, who advises students on their programmes of study. Students may apply for housing at the Institute (the Institute has up to 10 rooms available). The Institute gives priority to ERASMUS students who want to live on campus. Foreign students at the Newman Institute are able to join the social organisations known as "nations" at the University of Uppsala and to participate in their activities. Orientation sessions are arranged for foreign students upon their arrival to Uppsala, which are designed to help students adapt to Uppsala College life by giving them information on living and studying in Uppsala. The Institute operates with two academic terms, dates for which can be found on the website: www.newman.se

Initial contact should be made with the ERASMUS coordinator:
